BARWON WATER (BLACK ROCK)

Barwon Water (Barwon Region Water Corporation) is Victoria's largest regional urban water corporation. They provide high quality water, recycled water and sewerage services.

STUDENT HIGHLIGHTS

- I learnt how the sewerage is filtered
 - I found it really interesting to learn all the different ways that the water was treated and the different clear levels that could be achieved
 - I was impressed at how much work goes into recycling water and the process of cleaning water and how much it costs!
 - I learnt many things within this event like the stages that the water goes through in order for it to be clean and how the economy and politics can affect the business, which was very interesting
 - Taking a look around the factory to me was extremely interesting and 'cool'. I have never had any education about our water here, so by being exposed to and seeing the place to me was very eye-opening
 - It was interesting to learn about all of the processes involved in treating waste water. Hearing about the cost behind things was also eye-opening
- It was very interesting to see everything that goes into treating water. I never knew how many processes were involved in cleaning and recycling water
 - I learnt about the different processes for making clean rain water. I also learnt about the different classes of water and what they are used for. I learnt about some of the jobs involved in this process
 - It was interesting to find out how our waste water is processed and where everything goes after it goes down the sink or toilet. It was very informative and the tour was very interesting. I learnt a lot
 - It was cool to learn about how the sewerage water gets filtered and cleaned to a state that is cleaner than clean. I was interested to learn about all the chemistry that goes into water filtering
